BIBLE READING PLAN

Martin Luther once said, “For some years now . . . I have read through the Bible twice every year. If you picture the Bible to be a mighty tree and every word a little branch, I have shaken every one of these branches because I wanted to know what it was and what it meant” (LW 54:165).

Few of us will ever approach the time and energy Luther devoted to reading the Bible. Yet, as Luther’s heirs, we carry his love for Scripture and affirm with him that God’s Word alone holds the key to life and salvation. With Luther, we want to “shake each branch” to discover its meaning for our lives.

When Martin Luther lived in exile at the Wartburg Castle, with his own life as well as his reforming cause in jeopardy, he used his time for intensive Bible study. In addition, he began a monumental undertaking to translate the Bible into the common language of his country’s people. If every believer was a priest before God, as Luther proclaimed, then he or she should be invited to read and study God’s truth found in Scripture.

Using This Plan

This Bible reading companion provides a year-long interaction with the Holy Scriptures based on readings for an entire year. Each day offers three different “paths” through the Bible. This allows adults, youth, and children to choose the path most appropriate for their interests, their reading abilities, and the amount of daily time they are willing to dedicate to focusing on the Word of God.

The Challenge Path. Dig deeply into the Bible’s riches. This path offers large sections of Scripture for thoughtful meditation. For six days of each week, read through about two to four chapters of a book of the Bible. These readings alternate between the New and Old Testaments. Sundays offer a different approach. Since three appointed Scripture readings are read at Sunday worship, those following the Challenge Path generally will study selections from a variety of biblical resources such as Psalms, Proverbs, and Ecclesiastes. In other instances, Sunday reading will focus on short books such as Ruth, Jonah, and Esther.

The Survey Path. Shorter scriptural references characterize the Survey Path. There is usually a close connection with the readings listed for the Challenge Path. However, from time to time related passages from both the Old and New Testaments are brought together to explore connections of key biblical ideas. Each week features a theme for your reading.

The Sampler Path. This path distills the Bible’s message in a weekly series of memorable and quotable references. These passages are special treasures of Christian faith and can be used for memorization. For the most part, the Sampler Path uses shorter portions of the Challenge Path selections. Hopefully, this will encourage discussion and interaction between members of the same household who are reading different “paths.”
